

What is claimed is:

1. Hole saw structure including a circular blade including a base member having disposed thereon a first washer member, said base and first washer member having a plurality of apertures therein which coincide with each other and a central aperture for accommodating a power drill, a plurality of spring loaded bolts which are connected to a second washer member and affixed thereto by nuts.
2. Structure in accordance with claim 1 wherein the washer members are constructed of wood.
3. Structure ion accordance with claim 1 wherein the washer members are constructed of metal.